Fwednesday

Over the past couple of years, I have had the opportunity to attend Polishing the Pulpit. I have heard some amazing lectures that have been so eye opening. But one of my favorite sessions has not necessarily been a lecture. The youth ministers have a session each year where we share ideas of things that have worked for our congregations. One of the leaders of the session shared an idea that works with their youth. It is called Fwednesday, basically friend Wednesday. It is an idea that at first I was hesitant about. I was not sure you really needed to designate a day to bring your friends. Shouldn't that be every day? But after I thought long and hard about it I decided we would give it a try and the results have been wonderful.

As a congregation we have Friends and Family days periodically and usually have a very good attendance on those days. Now, why do we do that? We are trying to put an emphasis on outreach to our friends and loved ones. But don't we know our friends and loved ones are invited to attend every week? Of course we do! But that is not the point. The point is that sometimes we, as humans, need reminding. We forget and are sometimes timid in asking our friends and family to study the Bible with us and to come to services with us. We need to be challenged. Now our young people have always been good about inviting friends to Bible studies and youth events, but since we have started having these Fwednesdays once a month, not only have the teens been inviting friends on our designated Fwednesday each month, but they have been inviting friends to everything. Not only are we seeing more and more visitors, but more and more of our teens are getting involved with reaching out to their friends. These are exciting times and I cannot wait to see what the future holds. As Christians, we have all been called to go into the world proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus Christ. A great place to always to start is with those closest to us, our friends.
